Communication skills for nursing practice develop the skills of evidence-based practice, critical thinking, reflection and health promotion, and encourage further learning. The areas of psychology, sociology, physiology and pathology are clearly related to nursing practice. Key principles of health promotion, the law and ethics, the human lifespan and development are explained in earlier chapters, then applied in later chapters. Cultural diversity information helps with understanding the needs of people from different backgrounds. Person-centred approach encourages problem solving and application to practice. Evidence-based practice is explicit throughout, and best-practice guidelines underpin exploration/explanation of nursing care. Easy-reference Glossary at the back of the book. Meets the requirements of the new pre-registration nursing curriculum including the NMC (2010) competencies and Essential Skills Clusters. Greater emphasis on safeguarding vulnerable people, maternal health and first aid. Self-test questions with answers available on accompanying website.

NURSING CARE AT THE END OF LIFE

Contemporary Leadership Challenges - Aida Alvinius 2017-02-01 Social and behavioral science has for decades studied and recognized leadership as a social exchange between leaders and followers. But leadership is rather complex, and as such, it tends to lead to an increased interest within and across different disciplines. This book is an attempt to provide theoretical and empirical framework to better understand leadership challenges in various contexts. The authors cover an array of themes that span from an individual level to an organizational and societal level. In this volume, two sections are presented. The first section based on individual level focuses on different leadership styles and abilities, and the other section provides theories to understand leadership in public administration, in industrial settings and in nonprofit organizations.
