Examples of Imperative Sentences in English

Imperative sentences are used to give commands, make requests, or instruct someone to do something. They are often used in everyday conversations and in written text to convey direct instructions or requests. Here are some examples of imperative sentences in different contexts:

1. Direct Order:
   - Attend the meeting.
   - Discharge your duty.
   - Enforce the law.
   - Quash the previous order.
   - Return to work.
   - Vacate this place.

2. Instruction:
   - Climb the stairs.
   - Fill out the form.
   - Take the medications as directed.

3. Advice:
   - Apply band aid / ointment.
   - Apply medication as directed.
   - Apply clothing to prevent exposure.

4. Compliment:
   - Anticipate rate hikes.
   - Apologize if you hurt someone.
   - Apply sunscreen as directed.

5. Request:
   - Approve the request.
   - Arrange for a meeting.
   - Ask for a raise.

6. Permission:
   - Authorize access to the property.
   - Approve the plan.
   - Allow access to the facility.

Imperative sentences are often used in formal and informal contexts, including legal documents, instructional manuals, and everyday conversations. They are characterized by the absence of the personal pronoun 'I' and the use of the verb in the base form (e.g., 'go', 'say', 'do').

Tippy-Toe Chick, Go!
-George Shannon 2003-01-21
Ruff-Ruff-Ruff-Ruff-Ruff! There is a big grumpy dog blocking the way to the garden! What can Hen and her three chicks do? The sweet itty-bitty beans and potato bugs (this family's favorite treat) are in the garden. Hen and her chicks are hungry! Hen, Big Chick, and Middle Chick are no match for Dog. And Little Chick? Well, Little Chick is too little. Or is she? When you are small, you can also be brave and fast and resourceful, and -- as Little Chick discovers -- sometimes your family depends on you!
